The Girl Patsy To-night.
"The Girl Patsy," which comes to the Pensacola opera house to-night, is from the pen of Mrs. Jene Mandlin Feigl, the talented young authoress who has written many successful plays.

This heart appealing drama has been carefully staged under the personal supervision of the author, who has carefully selected the cast from hundreds of the finest dramatic talent, that they might come up to her inspiration, not only in work, but in looks, complexion and build, so that she might see her drama complete and in this way she has succeeded where others have failed, by proving that to successfully dramatize life, it is necessary to find the ideal subjects, when there can be no doubt of a pleased audience.

The piece itself deals very fairly with a present time problem of domestic life near New York, in an aristocratic country place, where people date their ancestry back to the revolution, and yet they, like all others, have their share of scandal.

which is most beautifully brought out in this refined drama.
The author has very judiciously avoided melodramatic effects, but there are nevertheless moments that grip the audience in the most telling fashion. The piece is notable perhaps, for its quiet, effective cast is uniformly capable. Miss June Mathis is seen in the winsome role of the girl "Patsy."

"Human Hearts."
The powerful and impressive melodrama "Human Hearts," presented by an exceptionally strong company of players, will be offered for the approval of the lovers of all that is clean and wholesome in melodrama on the stage, at the local theatre on Thursday night, November 1.

"Human Hearts" has been firmly established as one of the most original and interesting of modern dramas. The author has long been famous as a playwright, but in the present instance, he has surpassed all his former efforts. For ingenuity, strength and brilliancy, "Human Hearts" is a marvel of stage craft, done by a master hand in stage artistry. The author has poured out his entire store of theatrical knowledge in this play. He has produced a work of magnificent possibilities for a melodramatic public. The characters are finely drawn, the dialogue is crisp, the human interest is all absorbing, the comedy is charming, the pathos sincere. Taken on its entirety, "Human Hearts" is probably one of the strongest plays ever shown on the American stage.

The Millionaire Tramp.
While the country is burdened theatrically with tramp plays, few have attained any standing with theatre-goers.

"A Millionaire Tramp," very first in the field, has outlived all its imitators and nightly proves its popularity with theatre-goers by being greeted with ever-increasing patronage. But "A Millionaire Tramp," contains much interesting dialogue, excellent comedy and splendid climaxes. The fun is of uproarious sort and brings forth laughter and applause of lasting duration. The dramatic portion of the play is calculated to please a thinking public. It is constructed with a strain of morality dealing with temperance teachings and many of the lines evoke thunderous applause from the parquette as well as from the gallery.

"A Millionaire Tramp" will be seen here next Friday night.

Otis Skinner.
Charles Frohman will present the well-known actor, Otis Skinner, surrounded by a notable company of players, in the celebrated French play, "The Duel," at this theatre next Saturday. The play comes here after a long and prosperous run at the Hudson theatre, in Manhattan.

In the spring of last year "The Duel" was presented at the Theatre Comedie Francaise, in Paris. Attention was called to it in literary and artistic circles, because it came from the pen of an Académicien, Henri Lavedan.

Something of more than ordinary merit was expected from the master, and it came in one of the strongest, most virile and absorbingly interesting dramas of human emotions that has ever been produced. The play created a profound sensation, and it continues to be the most discussed play in all Europe.

Wounds, Bruises and Burns.
By applying an antiseptic dressing to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in they may be healed without maturation and in about one-third the time required by the old treatment. This is the greatest discovery and triumph of modern surgery. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness and prevents any danger of blood poisoning. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering such injuries entail. For sale by all druggists.

B. GERSON'S BIG OPENING

Yesterday was opening day in B. Gerson's jewelry department. A string band had been engaged to furnish music for the occasion and hundreds of ladies visited Gerson's beautiful store.

He has just put in an elegant line of jewelry, which embraces all the latest and most up-to-date articles of jewelry on the market. This well equipped department is in the hands of experts and there is no longer any excuse for sending out of town for holiday presents. They are here in profusion.

The opening was a big success, and Mr. Gerson and his large corps of salespeople were kept very busy all day yesterday entertaining callers. Pensacola should be particularly proud of the Gerson store, as it would do credit to the metropolitan cities of the United States. The store was very attractive.

CANDY IS MEDICINE

Candy is medicine, but medicine is not always candy. These facts were proven years ago, when our grandmothers would boil the horchound herb with sugar and water, by which they made horchound candy. To-day this old-time remedy is more popular than it was in years gone by and it will no doubt be one of the old remedies for coughs and colds that will live forever.

This thought was inspired by the many pounds of horchound candy in the show window of the Hooton Pharmacy, where a big bag is sold for five cents.

The price and taste permits everyone to use it, and its merits are undisputed.

FOOTBALL BOYS PRACTICING DAILY

Classical School Team Doing Some Hard Work on the Quiet.

Every day in as out of the way place as is available for practice the gridiron enthusiasts of the Pensacola Classical School are out trying to make real football players out of themselves.

They feel that heretofore there has been something wanting in their efforts. In fact, that they have not made effort enough of the right kind. They are going back to some of the school traditions and asking themselves if they cannot again have such teams as when Quina, Welles, "Big" Armstrong, "Little" Harvey and D'Almeida had a season without a defeat, asking for more games to win. They have determined to start with their resolutions in time to make them count. They have been brought to a realization of the danger of over confidence and storing up of energies and resolutions until the day of play. With such a spirit as the boys are throwing into their preparation it would be astonishing if they haven't something closely resembling a strong team.

The Classics are not troubled with any handicap of overconfidence. Last year's disasters are ample strong remedies to keep such complaints under control. It is doubtful whether you could get a five cent soda-water bet out of any member of the crowd on the result of more than one game. But about any one of the squad is willing to stake a good deal on each man's knowing and doing his part in every game. If the games are lost it will be because they are against better men.

Mr. Ormond, the coach, has done wonders in getting the men out for work, and is rounding his players into very good form. His task has been especially hard because of the raw material he has had to use. Of those from whom he is to pick his team, not more than six have ever been in a game, and of the rest of the squad more than half have no experience in football play.

The players, who will probably go to Mobile for the game against the Mobile Military Institute next Saturday are: Ends, Friedman, Wilson, Abercrombie, Tackles, F. Brawner, Sweeney, Williams, Guards, Barton, Phillips, Pace, Center, Eagan, Backs, Hannah, Brent, (captain), Avery, Sub-jett, Turtle, O. Brawner.

Just how the backs are to be played is still in doubt, and will not likely be announced before Friday or Saturday. As to these, however, it is believed the team will prove rather strong individually. If they can be brought to good team work they should be formidable.

Altogether it is a very good aggregation of players, and a proper spirit in practice, such is daily becoming more manifest will show an excellent team before the end of the season.

The schedule of games is unavoidably badly arranged, and is unsatisfactory, to both manager and coach. Their hardest game is to be their first. The Mobile Military Institute, with whom the Classics are to play next Saturday seem to be the best high school team in this section. In a recent game with the University Military School, the Institute team showed clear superiority. To judge from the score. This game will prove a trying introduction to the season's work.

Three other games have been scheduled by Manager Phillips, one to be played in Pensacola with the University Military school, one with Public High School No. 1, on Thanksgiving, and another in Mobile against the University Military School. An effort is being made to secure a game with the University High School of Montgomery, but as yet no definite arrangements have been concluded for it.

The whole football squad is reticent and players and coach seem determined just now on "Work boys, and hold your tongues." This is, at any rate, as much information as could be secured by a reporter.

One thing, however, is predicted, however, with fair certainty. This lot of players are going to trouble any team that plays them, if they but continue with the same spirit they are showing now.

THREE SMALL FIRES OCCUR

BUT LITTLE DAMAGE IS DONE. EXCEPT TO LAUNDRY AT ESCAMBA HOTEL.

Three small fires occurred Sunday and yesterday, but the damage was small with the exception of that to the roof of the laundry building of the Escambia hotel. This building was found in flames Sunday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock, and before the fire was extinguished by the fire department the roof had been badly damaged.

Last night shortly after 6 o'clock the department had a call to box 47, where the roof of the cottage at No. 599 North Tarragona street, occupied by Pierce Lee, colored, had caught fire from a defective flue, but was only slightly damaged.

An hour later the department responded to an alarm from box 17. The blaze was at the home of Mrs. Williams on Main street, between Reus and Government, but was extinguished before the firemen reached the scene.

SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF LYDIA E. PINKHAM

And a True Story of How the Vegetable Compound Had Its Birth and How the "Panic of '73" Caused it to be Offered for Public Sale in Drug Stores.

This remarkable woman, whose maiden name was Estes, was born in Lynn, Mass., February 9th, 1819, coming from a good old Quaker family. For some years she taught school, and became known as a woman of an alert restore the family fortune. They argued that the medicine which was so good for their woman friends and neighbors was equally good for the women of the whole world.

The Pinkhams had no money, and little credit. Their first laboratory was the kitchen, where roots and herbs were steeped on the stove, gradually filling a gross of bottles. Then came the question of selling it, for always before they had given it away freely. They hired a job printer to run off some pamphlets setting forth the merits of the medicine, now called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and these were distributed by the Pinkham sons in Boston, New York, and Brooklyn.

The wonderful curative properties of the medicine were, to a great extent, self-advertising, for whoever used it recommended it to others, and the demand gradually increased.

In 1877, by combined efforts the family had saved enough money to commence newspaper advertising and from that time the growth and success of the enterprise were assured, until to-day Lydia E. Pinkham and her Vegetable Compound have become household words everywhere, and many tons of roots and herbs are used annually in its manufacture.

Lydia E. Pinkham herself did not live to see the great success of this work. She passed to her reward years ago, but not till she had provided means for continuing her work as effectively as she could have done it herself.

During her long and eventful experience she was ever methodical in her work and she was always careful to preserve a record of every case that came to her attention. The case of every sick woman who applied to her for advice, and there were thousands—received careful study, and the details, including symptoms, treatment and results were recorded for future reference, and to-day these records, together with hundreds of thousands made since, are available to sick women the world over, and represent a vast collaboration of information regarding the treatment of women's ills, which for authenticity and accuracy can hardly be equaled in any library in the world.

With Lydia E. Pinkham worked her daughter-in-law, the present Mrs. Pinkham. She was carefully instructed in all her hard-won knowledge, and for years she assisted her in her vast correspondence.

To her hands naturally fell the direction of the work when its originator passed away. For nearly twenty-five years she has continued it, and nothing in the work shows when the first Lydia E. Pinkham dropped her pen, and the present Mrs. Pinkham, now the mother of a large family, took it up. With woman assistants, some capable as herself, the present Mrs. Pinkham continues this great work, and probably from the office of no other person have so many women been advised how to regain health. Sick women, this advice is "Yours for Health" freely given if you only write to ask for it.

Such is the history of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from simple roots and herbs; the one great medicine for women's ailments, and the fitting monument to the noble woman whose name it bears.

The three sons and the daughter, with their mother, combined forces to
